

Listen too,
How every pause is filled with under-notes,
Clear, silver, icy, keen awakening tones,
Which pierce the sense, and live within the soul,
As the sharp stars pierce winter's crystal air
And gaze upon themselves within the sea.

Prometheus Unbound by Percy Bysshe Shelley Act IV

A bronze statue of Prometheus, the Titan from Greek mythology, is shown in a dynamic, almost dancing pose. He is bound by chains to the roof of a modern building with large glass windows. His right arm is raised high, and his left arm is extended forward. The statue is set against a backdrop of green foliage and a clear sky.

“Prometheus Unbound”, 1972 at “The Institute for Rehabilitation and Research”